

Limited Submissions Announcement

A limited submission opportunity is available from the Carnegie Corporation of New York and has been posted to the UTSA Limited Submission Opportunities webpage.

2021 Andrew Carnegie Fellows Program Overview

The purpose of the Andrew Carnegie Fellows Program is to support high-caliber scholarship in the social sciences and humanities, making it possible for the recipients to devote time to research and writing that addresses pressing issues and cultural transitions affecting us at home and abroad.

Last year's topic areas that include a wide range of suggested subtopics:

- Strengthening U.S. democracy and exploring new narratives
- Technological and cultural creativity—potential and perils
- Global connections and global ruptures
- Environments, natural and humane Areas

Eligibility

- The Lead Principal Investigator (PI) must be employed by the eligible institution submitting the proposal.
- Must be a U.S. citizen or have permanent U.S. residency status

Application Limit

Nominators from universities may nominate one junior and one senior scholar.

Note: A junior scholar is defined as someone who received his/her Ph.D. within the last ten years (2010-2020). A junior scholar may hold any title, e.g., assistant professor or associate professor.

Award Amount

The program will provide fellowships of $200,000. Recipients have the choice of a 12-month or 24-month fellowship.

Cost Share Requirement

Cost sharing is not a requirement for this program.

Internal Evaluation Criteria

Pre-proposals should be responsive to the criteria outlined on the Andrew Carnegie Limited Submissions Guidelines. Proposals will be evaluated and reviewed by institutional leadership.
